

The Law

The law was meant to assist man in maintaining order and freedom within his world.

The law must be administered by those who have been given responsibility and power under a Higher Order.

The law is not to be abused or pursued as a means to an end by those seeking power.

The law must be preserved and applied in a manner that is consistent with a sense of justice.

The law is a vehicle used by man to harmonize his thoughts and actions with his Source.

The law is never to be broken by those under it and never manipulated to hide infractions.

The law will bring man back to a place of Oneness with his world.

The Law's time has come to join the ranks of a respected and honored trade once again.
